Producer

Based in the Adelaide Hills, Murdoch Hill is a fourth-generation family farm led by Michael Downer, who has brought fresh direction and intent to the estate. Rooted in sustainable viticulture, the project is defined by a desire to express place with honesty and restraint, positioning Murdoch Hill among the region's most thoughtful modern producers. Harriet first tasted these wines at the winery in 2016.

Tasting Notes

Aromas of pepper, graphite, dark chocolate, blackberry, dark cherry and complex spice. Medium bodied with fruit power of blackberries, dark cherries and plums.

Winemaking

Fruit from single, eastern facing block on Estate vineyard in Oakbank. No more that 10% new oak and whole bunch influence. Larger format oak used.
