Tasting Notes

A complex, layered wine with remarkable balance and freshness, combining tangerine, lemongrass and struck match notes.

Winemaking

"70 years old plantation of Pais grapes in a monovarietal, low bush ungrafted and dry farmed vines without any other management than the pruning and mechanical weed control. Cinsault is a newer plantation, 50 years old, exactly in the top of the same hills, vertical trellis conduction system and organically grown vineyard Granitic soil with little quartz in the surface with southwest exposure Winemaking Grapes are early season and hand picked; destemmed by hand in a traditional but improved zaranda that use plastic material instead "colihue wood" sticks over an open tank. The fermentation occurs with skins for 10 days and daily punch downs, pressed in a basket press and stored in a stainless steel tanks until bottling. Grapes are hand picked and destemmed by hand, grape by grape, not crushed and delicately dropped inside a 225 l barrel and forgotten there for 280 before pressing. The carbonic maceration occurs spontaneously and the berries crush themselves. Fermentation occurs without any intervention and just a gentle pressing is performed before bottling, so sulphur or any other additive is added to this bottle"
