Tasting Notes

A bright golden wine with aromas of citrus, tropical fruits, and a hint of almonds and honey. On the palate, it's fresh and smooth, with balanced acidity and a touch of minerality. The finish is long and refreshing, with subtle nutty notes. A well-rounded, elegant expression of the Grillo grape.

Winemaking

Grillo di Marsala is a Sicilian white wine, known for its bright acidity and fresh citrus and tropical fruit aromas. Grown in the island's coastal vineyards, it benefits from the Mediterranean climate, retaining freshness and complexity. Often enjoyed young, it showcases the Grillo grape's vibrant character, with some versions aged lightly in oak for added depth.
