MURDOCH HILL

Producer

Based in the Adelaide Hills, Murdoch Hill is a fourth-generation family farm led by Michael Downer, who has brought fresh direction and intent to the estate. Rooted in sustainable viticulture, the project is defined by a desire to express place with honesty and restraint, positioning Murdoch Hill among the region's most thoughtful modern producers. Harriet first tasted these wines at the winery in 2016.

Tasting Notes

Striking depth and elegance with purity of fruit and complexity. Lemon-lime, with a steely, flinty mineral character and ever so subtle creamy spice notes. Elegantly powerful and precise with bright acidity driving a long, fresh finish.

Winemaking

Small quanities with about 160 dozen made. 75% fruit from Piccadilly with remaining from other premium Adelaide Hills vineyards. 50/50 puncheons and barriques. +50% new oak. 10 months in oak.
