Tasting Notes

A light, cherry red in colour with aromas of wild herbs and kirsch. Medium bodied with a fine tannic structure, a refreshing bead of acidity and a long finish.

Viticulture

Made from 100% Garnacha, grown on a soil of friable granite on the north eastern corner of the town of San Martin de Valdeiglesias, an hour's drive west of Madrid. This region is part of the D.O of Madrid but importantly the sub region is the Sierra de Gredos, a mountainous region where the vineyards are planted at between 700-1000m+ altitude. The vines are bush trained and are planted at low density. The climate is continental and rainfall averages 380mm per year. Farming is organic but not certified and harvesting is done by hand.

Winemaking

Made from 100% Garnacha grown bush trained on a very loose granite soil. Hand harvested, the wine was then destemmed and crushed and then fermented in stainless steel tanks. Only the free run wine is retained after pressing and it is then aged for 18 months in 600 litre French barrels for 18 months.
