Zuccardi Valle de Uco brings together three generations of our family, united by our passion for cultivating wines that express the unique identity of the terroir

Zuccardi, founded by José Zuccardi, is a family-owned winery with a strong commitment to sustainability, innovation, and quality. The winery's name is inspired by the family's values and its connection to the land, specifically reflecting the founder's daughter, Julia Zuccardi. As the business continues to grow, the winery remains dedicated to producing wines and olive oils that showcase their passion for the region and commitment to environmental stewardship. Today, Zuccardi is recognized as one of the most important wineries in Argentina, both for its contribution to the country's wine industry and its leadership in organic farming.

Tasting Notes

Medium yellow with greenish highlights. On the nose, delicate and fresh white fruit stands out, such as pear, quickly giving way to aromatic herbal notes and a subtly citrus hint reminiscent of green apple. The palate opens with great freshness, with acidity providing tension and carrying it through. Mid-palate shows a slight creaminess. The finish is long and fresh.

Winemaking

"Direct pressing. Fermentation with native yeasts. 50% of the wine was fermented and aged in used, untoasted French oak barrels of 500 liters. The remaining 50% was fermented and aged in concrete vessels. Without malolactic fermentation."
