Producer

Jan Pettersen, right, is master of production and ageing of fine, unblended, untreated sherries. Made from the finest wines, these range from the pale, light and elegant Finos to the unique Antique sherries and have received numerous international awards. The brandies are made using only alambic distillates of selected white wines: primarily aged in new French and American oak and subsequently for long periods in sherry ageing barrels. Only the highest categories of brandy are made and it is rare to find such exceptional sherries and brandies made under one roof. With the increasing popularity of sherries throughout Europe and the States, as an aperitif and accompanying food, it is something that should be found in the cellar of every top restaurant.

Tasting Notes

Contains all the drama and intensity you would expect from a 20 year old plus. Coffee, liquorice, sweet tobacco, prunes, figs, raisins, tea and a dozen other fleeting scents with a surprising lightness and delicacy. An incredible, seductive, luscious and wonderful to drink Sherry. "Colour: Dark mahogany. Nose: Great aroma of dried fruits. Mouth: Very sweet and velvety in the mouth. Envelope and outstanding balance between acidity and sugar"

Winemaking

Made from desicated Pedro Ximenez grapes and aged oxidatively over many years in the solera system.
