Producer

Originally recognised globally as one of the world's first and foremost organic/biodynamic wine producers, Perlage have, for many years, been producing some stunning still wines. Respectful of their origins, Perlage follow an historic path created by nature, respected by generations, producing natural wines of purity and finesse.

Tasting Notes

A vine variety that comes from the prestigious Bordeaux region, but finds its best expression growing in the March of Treviso. Merlot Trevenezie IGT arises from the careful organic viticulture and the meticulous selection of its best grapes. This allowed Perlage to obtain this organic wine, which calls to mind the intensity of wild berries and the elegance of its far origin.

Viticulture

From vineyards in the Veneto and on sandy limestone soils at an altitude of 250 metres, facing south. The vines are aged between 9-20 years and are farmed organically. Harvesting is by hand.
