TERRAMATER

Producer

The Canepa family came from Italy in 1930 in 1996 the three sisters Edda, Gilda and Antonietta founded Terra Mater. Their Italian roots remain firmly in the wines, with Sangiovese and Zinfandel featuring heavily in their wines. Whilst they are winning medals for their Olive oils internationally, the wines have yet to be properly discovered. Their winemaker Paula Cifuentes, is timid, yet assured, something that shines through in her wines. The combination of old vines, a gentle winemaking style and determination is increasingly resulting in wines of surprising precision and finesse. Throw your prejudices' aside, there's a wine for every day of the week in this range!

Tasting Notes

Colour: Attractive red color with purple tones. Aromas: Pleasant and aromatic nose. Aromas of raisins mainly and figs, very typical of this variety. Also some blackberries and cherries. Flavors: Wine with good body and structure. Soft and juicy tannins. Ripe berry flavors. Persistent finish.

Winemaking

Vines between 40 and 50 years old. Clay loam deep colluvial soil, with a Mediterranean weather. Harvest: Good conditions of temperature and luminosity in spring and without rain. Good grapes and good ripeness. Bigger grapes and the yields were better than the previous harvest.
