Tasting Notes

Nose: An intriguing and enticing nose, as sea salt and rye cracker aromas give way to a golden caramel sweetness, backed by vegetal hints with a touch of iodine. Palate: Cracked pepper and oak spice, followed by briny yet sweet maritime notes, complemented by a white wine fruitiness, butterscotch, and herbal green tea undertones. Finish: An elegant sweet and salty finish with a touch of liquorice and plenty of umami and maritime character.

Winemaking

Our distillation takes places in the tranquil West Cork town of Skibbereen, nestled along the Wild Atlantic Way. Here our Irish barley is milled, mashed and fermented. Using traditional Irish distillation techniques, it is then triple distilled in copper pot stills to create a smooth and flavoursome liquid.
